

CDT stage enhancement technology proudly announces CenterStage™.

In the world of high-end audio the terms imaging and staging refer to the complex sonic interaction of two or more speakers to produce a quality of spatial illusion in the sound field.

This means sound sources are heard to be in a certain place and perspective as perceived realistically.

In the AutoSound world this imaging is rarely achieved in any precisely consistent way.

Working in conjunction with the existing right and left mounted tweeters - ultimately including extra CDT Upstage tweeters - driver and passenger are each provided personally centered staging and imaging.

What does it take to make this happen?

CenterStage™ tweeters are mounted in the center of the dash in close proximity to each other.

The centrally mounted pair provides a right and left driver for each person.

CenterStage™ joins the Upstage™ Stagefront™ system to raise the automotive listening experience to new highs.

CDT StageFront™ Technology UpStage System first lifted the stereo image in the direction of the road ahead.

With the introduction of CenterStage™, the off-center perspective in a car is transformed.

These CDT supplied CenterStage™ mid-tweeters are selected to operate optimally in this Image-enhancing system.

Special miniature chambered mid-tweeters

CenterStage™ provides each person with his or her own stereo system in the critical forward direction.

This provides each person with his or her own stereo system in the critical forward direction.

StageFront™ UpStage System and CenterStage™ may be used individually or combined synergistically to provide the ultimate personalized listening experience.

The CenterStag™ mid- tweeters are driven with an image-correcting signal at a reduced level with a blending module that interfaces directly with the power amplifier.

with frequency extension into the middle frequency range transform the image more completely than simple tweeters could.

The blending module employs a level control and with a provided mounting system optimizes installation and setup in any vehicle.

Install and enjoy this amazing enhancement – see your CDT dealer today.